

Loek Scheeren

Having studied technical commercial management, culminating in an MBA, Loek then worked for many years in various export positions across Europe. He is therefore very conversant with international business and business practices. With his customer focus and drive, and his sensitivity for the intricacies of marketing and management, Loek generates further added value for the business output. Since 2000, he has been a partner and co-owner of HSM Vertaalbureau. Thanks to his experience in the private sector and extensive international network, he makes 'impossible' assignments possible.